Clinic and Patient Value

1. What problems do you help solve for your patients/clients?

We help patients address hair loss and hair thinning, conditions that can significantly affect their appearance, confidence, and overall quality of life. Our approach is focused on identifying the most appropriate treatment option for each individual, whether through hair transplantation, medical treatments, or other personalised hair restoration solutions.

2. How does your patient/client feel after you solve their problem?

Patients often report feeling more confident, comfortable with their appearance, and positive about themselves. Beyond the physical improvement, successful treatment can contribute to a renewed sense of self-confidence and greater ease in both personal and professional situations.

3. Was there any unexpected value added to your patient/client's life when they received treatment or purchased your services?

Yes. In many cases, patients experience benefits that go beyond the visible improvement in their hair. These may include increased self-confidence, greater willingness to participate in social or professional activities, reduced anxiety around their appearance, and an overall improvement in how they perceive themselves.

4. Can you describe the typical patient journey from first contact to post-treatment follow-up?

The patient journey typically begins with an initial enquiry through one of our digital channels, by phone, or directly at the clinic. Our team then arranges a consultation, during which the patient's hair loss is assessed, their medical history and expectations are discussed, and the most suitable treatment options are presented.

If the patient decides to proceed, our team provides detailed guidance on the recommended treatment, preparation requirements, expected outcomes, and the recovery process. For surgical treatments such as hair transplantation, the patient is supported throughout the procedure by our medical team and receives clear post-operative instructions.

After treatment, follow-up is an important part of the patient experience. We maintain regular communication, monitor progress, provide medical guidance where required, and schedule follow-up assessments to evaluate the development of the results. Our objective is to provide continuous support throughout the entire journey, from the first consultation through to the final outcome.

Team & Expertise

1. Can you provide more information about the lead doctor/owner of the clinic? For example, share your story, education, qualifications and experiences, along with any additional training, certifications or specialised skills.

Dr. Anastasios Vekris, MD, Plastic Surgeon, is the Founder and Scientific Director of Advanced Hair Clinics and one of the key figures behind the development of the clinic's medical approach to hair restoration.

He graduated from the Medical School of the University of Ioannina and subsequently developed extensive expertise in Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery, microsurgery and hair restoration.

His specialised training in alopecia restoration and hair transplantation has included experience at internationally recognised centres abroad, including training under Dr. J.C. Kim at KNU University Hospital in South Korea, as well as further development of his expertise in London and San Francisco.

Dr. Vekris has focused on FUE hair transplantation for more than two decades. Together with his medical teams, he has been involved in tens of thousands of hair restoration procedures for patients from Greece and internationally.

His specialised expertise includes:

- FUE Hair Transplantation
- Unshaven FUE
- Long Hair FUE
- Hairline design and restoration
- Female hair transplantation
- Beard transplantation
- Eyebrow transplantation
- Scar and previous hair transplant repair
- Advanced and challenging hair-loss cases
- Microsurgical techniques

He has also held senior roles in medical education and research and regularly participates in major international hair restoration conferences as a speaker, moderator and trainer. A significant part of his professional activity involves the training of physicians and medical teams in advanced FUE techniques.

2. Can you provide short bios for every staff member, along with images via Google Drive?

https://drive.google.com/drive/folders/1E7zmln-\_UFuVBS2wJEcijZmm0FrpYagI?usp=sharing

3. What organisations, associations, or professional bodies are you or your team part of?

Not applicable

4. Could you share what drives your passion for your profession, what inspired you to pursue the work you do today, and the unique value you offer patients as part of their care?

Our philosophy is based on the belief that successful hair restoration requires much more than simply transplanting hair follicles. It requires a combination of medical knowledge, microsurgical precision, experience and a strong aesthetic understanding of what will look natural for each individual patient.

Hair loss is a highly personal issue. Every patient arrives with a different pattern of hair loss, donor capacity, facial characteristics, expectations and long-term needs. For this reason, our approach is highly individualised rather than based on a standardised solution.

A major focus of our work has always been achieving natural-looking results while respecting the patient's donor area and planning for the long-term evolution of their hair loss.

Continuous scientific development is also fundamental to our philosophy. Dr. Vekris and the Advanced Hair Clinics medical team regularly participate in international scientific meetings and training activities, while also contributing to the education of other physicians in FUE hair transplantation.

Clinic Advantages & Brand Identity

1. What are the top 5 selling points that truly differentiate your clinic from others in your field?

Our key differentiators are:

1. Extensive experience and specialisation in hair restoration

Advanced Hair Clinics has more than 20 years of specialised experience in hair transplantation and hair loss treatments, with a very large and diverse portfolio of cases involving patients from Greece and internationally.

2. Doctor-led medical care

Hair transplantation is treated as a medical procedure rather than a purely cosmetic service. Our procedures are carried out by specialised doctors and medical teams, with a strong emphasis on medical assessment, patient safety and appropriate treatment planning.

3. Advanced expertise in FUE and complex cases

Our team has extensive expertise in Advanced FUE Hair Transplantation as well as specialised techniques including Unshaven FUE, Long Hair FUE, Afro Hair FUE, beard and eyebrow transplantation, female hair transplantation, scar restoration and corrective procedures.

4. Natural-looking, personalised results

We do not follow a one-size-fits-all approach. Hairline design, density, graft distribution and the overall treatment plan are customised according to the patient's facial characteristics, age, donor area, existing hair and long-term hair-loss pattern. Our priority is to achieve results that look natural and remain appropriate as the patient ages.

5. International recognition, scientific activity and proven results

Advanced Hair Clinics and Dr. Anastasios Vekris have an established international presence through scientific conferences, medical training, professional organisations and industry recognition. This is supported by an extensive portfolio of real patient results and more than 30,000 hair restoration cases performed by Dr. Vekris and his medical teams.

2. If your clinic had a specific "identity" or "personality", how would you describe it? (e.g., professional, approachable, luxurious, innovative)

The Advanced Hair Clinics brand should be perceived as:

Medical and authoritative – expertise, science and patient safety come first.

Premium but approachable – a high-standard experience without feeling distant, intimidating or overly luxurious.

Specialised – hair restoration is a core area of expertise rather than one service among many.

Innovative – continuously adopting and developing advanced techniques and best practices in hair restoration.

Trustworthy and transparent – providing realistic expectations rather than exaggerated promises.

Personalised and patient-focused – every treatment plan is designed around the individual patient.

International – reflecting our experience with patients from different countries and our active participation in the global hair restoration community.

Confident but not aggressive – expertise and results should speak for themselves rather than relying on overly promotional language.

Visually and verbally, the brand should feel contemporary, clean, medically credible and premium.

3. What is your preferred branding direction for this project: maintain your existing brand identity and colour palette, refresh your current branding, or undertake a complete rebrand?

We are not looking to undertake a rebrand. Our objective is to maintain the existing Advanced Hair Clinics brand identity and build on the brand equity we have already established.

As discussed, the main focus of this project is the international expansion of the brand, adapting and strengthening our digital presence so that it can effectively support growth in new markets abroad.

We are therefore open to optimising how the existing brand is presented internationally — including messaging, website structure, content, user experience and market-specific communication — while keeping the core brand identity, positioning and visual direction consistent.

4. Are there specific values or messages you want every patient to take away from your clinic?

Yes. We want every prospective patient to understand the following:

You are in the hands of an experienced medical team.

Hair restoration is a medical procedure, and expertise, safety and responsible planning should always come first.

Your treatment will be designed specifically for you.

Every patient is different. The right solution depends on their individual hair-loss pattern, donor area, facial characteristics, age, expectations and long-term needs.

Natural results are our priority.

A successful hair transplant should not look like a hair transplant. Hairline design, density and graft placement should complement the patient's natural appearance.

We focus on long-term outcomes, not short-term promises.

Responsible hair restoration means considering not only how the patient looks immediately after treatment, but also the future progression of hair loss and preservation of the donor area.

Experience matters.

Our extensive experience across thousands of different cases allows us to approach both straightforward and complex cases with a high level of expertise.

We are transparent about what can realistically be achieved.

We want patients to make informed decisions based on an accurate medical assessment and realistic expectations.

The relationship does not end after the procedure.

Patient support, medical guidance and follow-up remain important throughout the recovery and hair-growth process.

Ultimately, we want patients to associate Advanced Hair Clinics with trust, medical expertise, natural results, innovation and personalised care.

Patient Feedback

1. When you've asked past patients — or prospective patients who chose not to go ahead — for feedback, what do they say they appreciate most about your clinic, and what could be improved?

Based on the feedback we receive through patient communication, consultations, reviews and follow-up, patients most commonly appreciate:

The experience and professionalism of the medical team

The personalised approach and detailed assessment of each case

The natural-looking results

The level of information provided before the procedure

The support and communication throughout the patient journey

The overall organisation and quality of care

The confidence that comes from being treated by a highly specialised hair restoration team

For prospective patients who do not immediately proceed, the main barriers are typically related to timing, budget, uncertainty about the procedure or recovery, and the need for additional reassurance before making a decision.

Areas where we continuously aim to improve include making the patient journey even clearer and more seamless, providing more educational content before the consultation, further improving communication around timelines and expectations, and making it easier for international patients to understand the full process before travelling.

2. Have there been any unforeseen benefits your patients experienced that you didn't anticipate?

Not applicable

Technology, Facilities & Recognition

1. What advanced technology, equipment, or techniques does your clinic use that sets you apart?

Our differentiation is based less on a single piece of technology and more on the combination of advanced hair restoration techniques, specialised medical expertise, refined surgical protocols and extensive clinical experience.

Key areas include:

- Advanced FUE Hair Transplantation
- Unshaven FUE
- Long Hair FUE
- Specialised implantation techniques and precision instruments
- Advanced hairline design and graft distribution
- Beard and eyebrow transplantation
- Female hair transplantation
- Afro hair transplantation
- Scar restoration and corrective hair transplant procedures
- Advanced donor-area management and planning
- Diagnostic and medical treatment protocols for different forms of hair loss

A major part of our approach is also the continuous refinement of the tools and techniques used during extraction and implantation, with particular attention to graft survival, natural direction and angulation, density, donor-area preservation and long-term aesthetic planning.

Our medical team is actively involved in international scientific meetings, workshops and physician training, which allows us to remain closely connected to developments in FUE and hair restoration surgery.

2. Are there any recent upgrades, innovations, or improvements in your clinic that patients should know about?

Our approach to innovation is continuous rather than based on one isolated upgrade.

We regularly refine our surgical protocols, instrumentation, implantation techniques, patient assessment processes and treatment planning based on clinical experience and developments within the international hair restoration community.

3. Has your clinic or team been featured in media, awards, or publications?

Yes. Advanced Hair Clinics and Dr. Anastasios Vekris have received multiple international awards and have a strong presence at major scientific congresses and professional events.

Highlights include:

Multiple distinctions at the International Medical Travel Journal (IMTJ) Medical Travel Awards, including recognition as International Hair Clinic of the Year

In 2026, Dr. Vekris also participated as a member of the Scientific Committee at the IMCAS World Congress in Paris.

These recognitions and scientific activities are important elements of our international positioning and should be reflected appropriately across the website and other digital touchpoints.

Locations & Target Market

1. What are your target locations?

For the international expansion, we would like your team to recommend and prioritise the most suitable target markets based on factors such as demand, competition, search volume, market potential, patient acquisition costs and medical tourism opportunities.

We are open to your strategic guidance on which countries or regions should be prioritised first.

2. How many locations do you currently have? Do you have Google My Business listings set up for these locations?

Greece and Cyprus with 15 clinics. There are GMBs for all the locations

3. Describe your ideal patient/client. Include as much detail as possible: gender, age, location, interests, and specific problems or pain points.

Our ideal high-value patient is typically a financially comfortable professional, entrepreneur, executive or business owner who views hair restoration as a long-term investment in their appearance, confidence and personal image.

They are usually male, approximately 30–55 years old, although we also treat high-value female patients depending on the case. For international expansion, they are likely to come from markets with strong purchasing power and are willing to travel abroad if they believe they are receiving superior medical expertise, natural results and a premium level of care.

This patient is generally not looking for the cheapest option. They are more focused on:

Medical expertise and the reputation of the doctor

Proven, natural-looking results

A highly personalised treatment plan

Privacy and discretion

Convenience and a seamless patient experience

Clear communication before and after treatment

Strong credentials, awards, reviews and before-and-after cases

Confidence that the procedure will be performed by an experienced medical team

Long-term planning and preservation of the donor area

High standards of care and follow-up

Their typical pain points include concerns about visible or unnatural results, choosing the wrong clinic, wasting donor grafts, lack of discretion, poor aftercare, and the risk of having to correct a badly performed procedure in the future.

They often have demanding professional and personal schedules, so they value efficiency, responsiveness and a well-organised experience. For international patients in particular, they expect the process to feel simple and professionally managed, from the initial online consultation and treatment planning through travel, the procedure itself and post-treatment follow-up.

Their interests often include business, travel, fitness, wellness, grooming, aesthetics, luxury lifestyle and personal development.

Overall, the ideal high-ticket patient is someone who values quality, expertise, trust, discretion and long-term results over price, and is prepared to invest more for what they perceive to be the safest and highest-quality treatment option.
